Find out what cookies we use

The website does not automatically collect any information, except for information in cookies.

Cookies are IT data that contain text files, which are stored on the Website User's end device and intended for use by websites. These cookies are specific to the website they originate from, and their storage duration and quantity may vary.

Cookies are saved for the following purposes:

- To customize electronic website content and optimize website applications for user control on their end devices as well as on the website itself, tailored to their individual needs.
- To create statistics based on user access to the sites, allowing us to improve the content and user experience.

The website uses two basic types of cookies: "session cookies" and "persistent cookies."

"Session cookies" are temporary files that are stored on the user's end device until they log out, leave the website, or turn off the software (web browser).

"Persistent cookies" are stored on the user's end device for the time specified in the cookie parameters or until they are deleted by the user.

The Website uses the following types of cookies:

- "Necessary" cookies that enable the use of services available on the Website, such as authentication cookies for services requiring login, security cookies for detecting authentication abuses, and cookies for collecting information on Website usage.
- "Recommended" cookies that remember User settings and personalize the interface, such as language preferences, region, font size, and appearance of the website.
- "Voluntary" cookies that provide advertising content tailored to User interests.

In order to provide you with the best experience on our website, some information is required to facilitate the exchange of data between our server and your browser. This information is stored in cookies and includes the following:

- Your IP address or the IP address of the proxy server
- Location of your device
- Basic information about the domain
- Your ISP may be tracked, depending on your ISP's connection configuration
- Date and time of your visit to the website
- Session length
- Pages you accessed
- Frequency of visits to our website within a given month
- File sizes being viewed
- Website that referred you to our website
- Operating system used by the computer.

We utilize third-party services, such as Facebook Pixel and Google Analytics, to collect, monitor, and analyse this type of information in order to improve the functionality of our website. These third-party service providers have their own privacy policies that govern how they utilize this information.

In many cases, the web browser software used to browse websites allows cookies to be stored on the user's device by default. Users of the website have the ability to change cookie settings at any time. These settings can be adjusted to block the automatic handling of cookies in the web browser settings or to receive notifications each time they are placed on the user's device.

Detailed information regarding the options and methods for managing cookies is available in the software (web browser) settings.

Please be advised that restrictions on the use of cookies may impact some of the functionalities available on the website.
